

WESTCODE Establishes Charitable foundation

Westcode has for the past three years been hosting a charity golf match to commemorate Mr. Tony Gallagher, who died prematurely at the age of 26. Tony had worked for Mitsubishi Electric in Japan for a number of years and had joined Westcode in 2004 to act as liaison between the two technology partners.

The money donated by the company's suppliers, customers and employees, was donated to one of the major charities each year, the first year to American Heart Association, and last year to the Strides against Breast Cancer appeal.

This year Westcode decided to establish a Charitable Foundation, to try and be more personal in its allocation of the funds. The recent match, held on 19th September, at Endwell Greens Golf Club, raised $5500, which the Company will match for a total of $11,000, this will be distributed to various charities at the discretion of the newly created Westcode Foundation, the board of which is chaired by Mrs. Carolyn Widdowson, the wife of Westcodes Chairman, Edward Widdowson, and a major shareholder in the Company.

The picture shows the check for the proceeds from the recent golf match being presented to Carolyn Widdowson, and members of the Board of the Westcode foundation.
